

KNOX COUNTY MEN TO APPEAL CASE

Judge Cochran Praises McFarland In Passing Sentence—Counterfeiters Go To Pen

In sentencing Jim Bailey and brother, Bev Bailey, to three years in federal prison at Atlanta, following their conviction for resisting federal revenue officers on a moonshine raid in Knox county, in Federal Court last Thursday, Judge A. M. J. Cochran told the two defendants in vigorous terms of the enormity of their offense. He declared that the courts must and will protect the officers of the law. He paid a high tribute to the work and word of U. S. Deputy Collector U. G. McFarland, and his men. Judge Cochran said that he would believe anything that Mr. McFarland might say for he had known him for many years and he had always proven himself an able and upright officer, and devoted to his duty.

Motion for an appeal from the judgment was filed by attorneys for the two men, and it is expected that they will be released on bond pending their appeal to the U. S. District Court of Appeals.

William Hays, of Big Hill, who was convicted of passing a spurious $10 bill was given three years in the penitentiary at Atlanta. Hays was shown in the evidence to have attempted to pass two $1 bills which had been clumsily raised to look like $10 bills.

The two young Withers boys, George aged 19 and Robert aged 16, were given sentences of one year and three months, respectively, on the same sort of a charge. The judge took cognizance of their youth, it appeared.

There was a long array of prisoners sentenced by Judge Cochran at the conclusion of court last Thursday. The list sentenced was as follows:

John Engle and John Baker, Estill county, among the first convicted, were given three months for illicit distilling.

John Grigsby, Jackson county, paid a fine of $200 for general violations of the prohibition laws, being charged with having made and sold liquor. Carl Felner, who came from Jackson county after he had been indicted by the grand jury on the charge of making whisky, was given a sentence of three months.

Bentley Browning is another product of Jackson county who drew a term of three months as the result of making whisky without the formality of a permit.

Garfield Johnson, of Madison county, is one of the heavy losers as the result of making liquor and paid assessed fine after a verdict of guilty of $500.

Grant Godfrey, of Jackson county, who was convicted of having a still in the heart of a coal mine beneath the surface of the earth, will do three months, as will his partner, Grant Gumm, against whom there was also a charge of unlawfully manufacturing whisky.

Ism Miles, hailing from Estill county, had a still going full blast, it is said, when federal officers swooped down upon him, and he treated them so nicely that this evidence proved much in his favor during the hearing, with the result that since it was his first offense he was let off with a fine of $50, which he willingly paid.

Charles Miles, also of Estill county, was convicted of being another unlawful maker of booze and he paid a half hundred iron horses and took his departure.

Granville Combs comes from Perry county and is said to have been a salesman and also maker of whisky. He was indicted by the grand jury and paid a fine of $100.

Lyman Carter, of Jackson county, was in business for himself and made the product and sold it, according to the evidence, in large quantities. The court has the case under advisement, and the bond for sentence was given and heard later what his future will be—at least, for some time to come.

McKinley Bailey, also of Jackson county, and also charged with making liquor unlawfully was released on account of a former conviction under bond.

Russell Purbin, of Madison county, is said to have had the requisites, except the right, for making liquor, and as a result the officers were no doubt a little previous in his case, since there was no evidence that he had made whisky to any extent, and he was given a sentence of one day.

Burlin Lynch, Beattyville, had a still going and everything ready but the permit to make whisky, it was proven in his trial, and was put out of business instantly by revenue officers. Lynch will serve 30 days.

When officers came upon the still of Sylvester Thorpe in Estill county they found that he had five gallons of liquor made an drossily engaged in making more. He will spend three months on the inside as the result of the sentence.

Turner Wells was sentenced for three months for selling whisky in his neighborhood in Estill county.

John Stevenson, Estill county, paid a fine of $100 for having whisky in his possession and transporting it.

J. W. Watson was fined $100 for transporting liquor. He is also from Estill county.

Ambrose Dunaway got three months for selling whisky in Estill county, where he stated he had lived most of his life.

Arch Caudill, another one from Estill county, paid a fine of $100 for having liquor in his possession, which he was willing to sell.

Grover Cleveland Williams, Madison county, was fined $100 by Judge Cochran for transporting whisky. The court informed Grover Cleveland that had he lived up to his name, he would not have been in trouble over whisky, and suggested that he do this in the future.

Tan and James Fox looked after some of the illicit liquor interests in Owsley county, with the result that each will do a three-month stint for unlawful making and selling.

Noah Hanson paid a $100 fine and returned to Jackson county immediately after he got his change, after having been convicted of transporting whisky.

Henry Kidd, Owsley county, was found with a quart of whisky in his possession and believed he would get off easy. He was fined $50. There was no "kid," and he borrowed a part of the money with which to pay the fine.

James Hignite is one that the officers have been after for some time. It is claimed, in the vicinity of Big Hill, Madison county, but he was not apprehended until he had led the officers a merry chase covering a period of several months. He paid a fine of $100 for selling whisky.

Bartley Parks, who came from Perry county with a suit case filled with bottled wet goods, and whose selling proclivities soon caused officers to get on his trail, paid a fine of $100 for the act. He was arrested in Richmond and paid a fine in city court besides doing a jail stint.

Edgar Dunn, Boyle county's representative at the recent session, was fined $100 for selling booze, and paid the fine, and was also apprised of the fact that he would serve 30 days.

Oscar Hamer, also of Boyle county, was known as a man from whom one could "get something" if he was badly in need of it, and this reputation cost him a sentence of 30 days in jail, to be started after January 1. This will give him a new start, the court said, on the new year.

George Spencer represented the unlicensed manufacturers from Perry county, and he paid a fine of $100. C. C. Noble, John Gibson and M. C. Combs, charged with having liquor in their possession, will be up from Jackson county again to see what the court has decided about their cases. They gave bond.

W. L. Bentley and Charles Amyx, $100 each for selling whisky.

EX-KENTUCKIAN KILLS BROTHER IN TENNESSEE

Jackson, Tenn., Nov. 12.—Samuel C. Barron, Jackson druggist, dealt fatal blows Thursday morning with an iron bar on the head of his half-brother, J. C. Smith, of Waynesburg, Ky., who had come to visit the Barron home, and was preparing to leave for Kentucky.

Barron had been suffering from periods of mental aberration for the last month, according to statements of neighbors.

Barron, 33 years old, is a native of Somerset, Ky., and a graduate of the Louisville School of Pharmacy. Smith is 40 years old and leaves a family. Barron had worked in Louisville, Nashville and Knoxville before coming to Jackson about eight years ago.

TEXAS HEARTILY GREETES HARDING

When He Speaks to Great Throng of 20,000 At Armistice Day Celebration

Brownsville, Texas, Nov. 12.—"We choose no aloofness, we shirk no obligation, we forsake no friends; we never have, we never will. But we build in nationality and we do not mean to surrender it. We crave fraternity, we wish amicable relations everywhere, we offer peace and choose to promote it, but we demand freedom and our own nation."

Senator Warren G. Harding, president-elect of the United States, in his first formal address since his election, Thursday afternoon expressed these principles in addressing several thousand American Legion men and others who gathered here to observe Armistice Day.

The declaration of the next president caught the spirit of his audience and was the signal for a demonstration the like of which never has been witnessed in this part.

Led by soldiers in khaki, the audience of 20,000 assembled on the parade grounds of Fort Brown, shouted with joy and it was some time before Senator Harding could complete his address.

No man in American public life could have been received more enthusiastically than was Senator Harding Thursday afternoon. Texans threw aside all thoughts of politics and set to work to extend to the president-elect a real greeting. He was acclaimed in the streets, and at the parade grounds and Thursday night when he started by automobile for Point Isabel, a drive of 26 miles, he received an enthusiastic farewell, particularly from the khaki-clad men of overseas service.

Senator Harding in his address reiterated many of the declarations he made in the campaign and left with his audience the conviction that what he promised as a candidate he proposed to carry out as president.

FRENCH DON'T WANT HUNS IN LEAGUE NOW

(By Associated Press)

Paris, Nov. 12.—The French government is unalterably opposed to the admission of Germany to the League of Nations at this time, it was stated at the foreign office today. "Some drastic action" will be the consequence of the league votes to admit Germany, it was intimated.

The foreign office said there had been conversations with Great Britain on the subject and that the British, who were inclined to favor German league membership, now accepted the French viewpoint, allowing the matter to rest for the present.

The French hold that Germany must prove her intention to fulfill the terms of the peace treaty and live peacefully with her neighbors before seeking membership.

WHERE BECKHAM LOST

(By Associated Press)

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 12.—Complete returns from the Sixth district showed Congressman Rouse polled a majority of 13,734. Cox, 12,586, and Beckham 5,178. Beckham's losses in the Fifth and Sixth districts gave him a handicap of more than 9,000 votes to meet the large republican majorities in the Eleventh.

THRELKELD TRIAL ON AT NICHOLASVILLE

Nicholasville, Ky., Nov. 12.—Prof. T. B. Threlkeld, 73 years old, principal of the Threlkeld Select School, charged with the killing of Arthur Denman, a Nicholasville merchant, October 7, told the story of the killing here Thursday in circuit court.

He stated that boys from his school had gone to the Denman store to sell football tickets and that Mr. Denman refused to buy and treat the boys unkindly.

He called up the store, he said, and talked to Wm. Denman, Arthur Denman's brother, and asked him why he did not purchase tickets from the boys, stating that the students purchased clothing from the store. William old him, he said, that he would give a donation to the football team or buy tickets.

Later William Denman called Prof. Threlkeld on the telephone and told him he had been thinking about what he said over the telephone and said:

"I want your son to come down and pay the account of $94 and don't ever step in my store again" the professor testified.

"When presented with the check Denman said: 'You can take your time about paying' and tore the check in two." Prof. Threlkeld said. "Logan (the professor's son) then requested William Denman to apologize for the way he had talked to his father and a fist fight started."

Arthur Denman started toward Prof. Threlkeld, according to the accused, and was within two feet of him when he shot.

According to a document procured today, the dying declaration of Arthur Denman, in part, was: "He came walking toward me and I started in his direction. Will said: 'See if that man is armed.' When I started toward him he fired. I wilted on the spot. I was not armed. I did nothing to Logan Threlkeld. I would not fight that man because he was too old and I told him so."

The statement was witnessed by Dr. C. A. Vance, Dr. T. J. Pearson and John H. Welch, attorney.

CENTRE CUTS OUT GEORGIA TECH

(By Associated Press)

Danville, Ky., Nov. 12.—The Centre College Athletic Association today voted to sever all relations with Georgia Tech on account of the alleged unfairness of the Georgia team and unsportsmanlike methods in the recent game between the two football teams.

Centre College players who participated in the game, asserted that members of the Tech squad deliberately kicked and struck Centre men when they were down on the football field.

Centre At Lexington

Lexington, Nov. 12.—A crowd of 10,000 is expected to be in attendance in Stoll Field, Lexington to witness the football game between the University of Kentucky Wildcats and the Centre College Colonels Saturday afternoon. It is to be Home Coming Day for the alumni and former students of the University, and already the entire reserved seat section on the Kentucky side of the gridiron has been engaged, which indicates that the field will be filled beyond its seating capacity.

CASE OF WINNES ATTRACTS CROWDS

New and Important Points Developed By Prosecution of State Veterinarian At Harlan

Harlan, Ky., Nov. 12.—Weaving what the prosecution evidently believes to be an ever-strengthening chain of circumstantial evidence about Dr. H. C. Winnes, a state veterinarian, who, with James Robinson, a negro contractor, is under arrest charged with the murder of Miss Lura Parsons, teacher at the Pine Mountain school, whose body was found beneath a ledge by the side of the Pine mountain trail on September 9, two days after she was outraged and killed, marked the proceedings of the investigation in county court here Thursday.

The prosecution during the day devoted practically all of the time to the examination of witnesses whose testimony tended to show any facts concerning the time Dr. Winnes departed from Dillon for his trip across Pine mountain to the school on September 7.

Practically all of the evidence indicated that the doctor had departed closer behind Miss Parsons than had at first been believed. The prosecution in the conduct of its investigation is also fast reaching a point where an explanation by the defense for the long period of time needed by Dr. Winnes to make the trip from Dillon to the school will apparently be necessary.

Evidence introduced Thursday also showed that Dr. Winnes did not reach the school until between 3:30 and 4 o'clock on the afternoon on which the crime was committed. As he left Dillon before noon, the time Dr. Winnes spent in traversing the trail between the railroad station and the school is considered longer by an hour than the period necessary to make the trip on foot.

Testimony of Thursday also showed that Miss Parsons mailed a package at the postoffice at Dillon before beginning the trip across Pine mountain to the school. Attorneys for the prosecution also brought out the fact that Dr. Winnes had said nothing to the authorities at the school about the fact that Miss Parsons had preceded him along the trail until the day following the crime.

Developments of the investigation indicated for the first time that the prosecution would make a determined effort to fix the guilt on Dr. Winnes. Throughout the day little reference was made to James Robinson or others of the convict road gang, which was employed near Dillon at the time the crime was committed. This apparently means that the prosecution believes it will be able to establish the guilt of the doctor before the investigation is closed.

Progress in the case continues as slow as during the earlier part of the week. Each detail is gone into thoroughly and much time is spent this way. A crowd that filled the court room was present at both sessions of court Thursday. Practically every seat was taken and a large number of women were present.

Until within the past two days no crowd of any proportion had attended the proceedings, but the bringing out of testimony until now never known has attracted people to the court room in great numbers.

That the prosecution until Thursday had formed no definite opinion regarding the crime was apparent when Senator Hiram Brock took a leading part in the questioning of witnesses testifying regarding Dr. Winnes. Before this time Senator Brock had, from the trend of his questions, indicated that he considered the testimony against the convicts more important, and left the examination of other persons of the case to Attorney A. Floyd Byrd, of Lexington; Commonwealth Attorney Grant Forrester and County Attorney J. S. Forrester.

Hamp Lewis, storekeeper at Dillon, when placed on the stand Thursday, testified that he saw Miss Parsons and Dr. Winnes in his store shortly after the train had arrived at Dillon on the morning of September 7. Lewis also stated that Miss Parsons mailed a package at the postoffice, which is located in his store. He gave her a receipt for the package. Dr. Winnes also mailed a package, Lewis declared. Miss Parsons, Lewis declared, went over to the house of Mrs. Martha Howard, where she changed her shoes. The teacher, Lewis declared, started not more than 15 minutes ahead of Dr. Winnes on her way to the school. As he started, Dr. Winnes, when mounting his mule, said: "If I overtake that lady on the trail, I will pass her on the fly, because she wouldn't get on to ride herself," and

BEREA POST WINS FOOT BALL GAME

The football team of the Jesse M. Dykes post of the American Legion, made a gallant fight in the game against Cleveland First post of Berea here Armistice Day but lost by the narrow margin of 13 to 6.

Crippling of several of the Richmond team's best players probably had a lot to do with the result, although the Berea boys put up a smashing game, and with a heavier team and more experience, they could not be held back from two touchdowns.

The game was hard fought from beginning to end, and witnessed by a great crowd.

Tom Baxter, one of Richmond's best men, had a leg badly sprained in the very first scrimmage and after fighting hard all through the game Embree, full back for Richmond, was laid out toward the close of the game.

The local boys played a good game, this having been their first appearance on the field, and the management believes they will be able to hold their own with any team of the same size and weight with a little more practice.

The locals lined up as follows: Martin, L. E.; White, L. G.; Devore, L. G.; Davison, C.; Baxter, R. G.; Rice, R. T.; McDougle, R. E.; Cobb, Q.; Embree, R. H.; Deatherage, L. H.; Oldham, F. B.

Substitute—Winkler for Baxter; Devore for Embree; Blake for Devore; Mainous for Blake.

TOBACCO MEETING HERE ON SATURDAY

Mr. Newman spoke here several weeks ago and was asked to return. Organization of a local section of the association will be perfected at this time.

The burley association was incorporated at Frankfort this week. The directors of the organization will be elected at a meeting of the 31 incorporators in Lexington next Tuesday and the officers that will guide the organization until the first annual meeting in March will be chosen soon after.

CHILD IS MISSING EN ROUTE TO IRVINE

No clue is reported in the case of little Mollie Powell, 12 years old, whose disappearance from a train while en route from Dayton, Ohio, to Irvine, was reported a few days ago. The child is supposed to have arrived at Irvine, her destination, on Tuesday. William Preston, railway agent at Ravenna, who had been notified by relatives of the little girl's coming, found that she was not on the train and wired relatives to this effect. The child is said to have started on time from Dayton, Ohio. This is the last seen or heard of her. Relatives, especially the child's mother, are prostrated.

MILLION'S PERMIT REVOKED BY COMBS

Federal Director James H. Combs at Lexington, revoked the whisky permit of V. B. Million, operator of drug stores at 12th and Broadway and Tenth and Broadway, Louisville.

The charges upon which the revocation order was issued alleged that Million had violated the national prohibition act by failing to keep proper records of prescriptions for intoxicating liquors and by issuing prescriptions that under the law were not emergency cases.

NEW PARKING RULE ON FRIDAY MORNING

Police Issue Order and Outline New Rules—Where You May Park In Safety

Here's where you must park your machines, if it is in the business section of the city, after Friday morning.

Either side of Main street for a period of 30 minutes.

On East, West and South side of court house square, along curb next to court house.

No parking on Irvine street.

On First, Second and Third streets, North of Irvine and South of Main.

On Irvine street East of First and West of Third street.

No parking in Center of Main street.

On Friday morning, according to the edict issued by Chief of Police Claud Devore, there will be no auto parking in the center of Main street and those parking their machines on Main street along the side will be given a time limit of 30 minutes. Unless this is done, and there is a traffic officer on the center of Main street, this paving will soon be below the standard in durability. It has been used steadily for parking purposes since its completion. It is to give this the required service that the new ruling was made.

There will be three sides, nearest the court house square, where parking at will may be done. These are the Main, First and Second street sides, nearest the court house curb. The Irvine street side is excepted. Irvine street may be used West of Third street and East from First street; West street may be used between First and Third streets, as well as First street South of Main street, and the same applies to Second and Third streets, as well as North of Main. This will admit of the center of the street receiving the necessary usage to put it in condition, it is contended by the payers.

"There will be no occasion for anyone to violate this order," said Chief Devore, "and we will see to it that there are no violators go unpunished. It is essential that this be done, in order to procure the quality of street desired and paid for by the city. The constant use of the remainder of the street, leaving the center unused, will admit of its deterioration in value, and the effect would soon be apparent, but it would be too late, hence the change in the parking rules."

When the parking ordinances were presented to the city council the matter of using the center of the street was brought up, but it was decided to look after this later, and he present change comes as no surprise to those who have been keeping in touch with the situation. Those parking machines are cautioned to use discretion regarding the blocking of entrances to places of business or anywhere that would interfere with residences or business places thereon.
